

Mesothelioma Applied® Research Foundation

research - education - support - advocacy

Research

We have awarded over $12 million in research grants to support highly innovative, promising studies around the world. Through our scientific peer-reviewed grant program, we are advancing research into effective treatments for mesothelioma, prevention, and early detection.

Education

The Meso Foundation puts out multiple channels of educational materials including interviews with experts through MesoTV and the Meet the Meso Experts series, a blog of cutting edge news, newsletters, and our symposium where patients can hear directly from medical specialists.

Support

We provide one-on-one consultations with our on-staff expert who can help you understand the basics, complex medical terms, symptom management, and if needed, refer you to a specialist. We also provide financial assistance programs, peer-to-peer support, and support groups.

Advocacy

The Meso Foundation advocates for federal funding of mesothelioma research to maximize progress initiated through Foundation grants. As a direct result of Foundation advocacy, the Department of Defense has awarded a total of $28 million to mesothelioma research since 2008.

PATIENT SERVICES

Virtual Support Groups

- Monthly support groups over zoom offered to patients, caregivers, family members, and bereaved. These groups are all professionally-moderated and confidental.
- Facebook chat groups for patients, caregivers, family members, and bereaved to chat openly on our own time in a confidential space.

Peer-to-Peer Support System

- Mesothelioma can be isolating for patients and familiy members as well as recently bereaved. We identify and connect you with members of our mesothelioma community who “have been there, and have done that.”

Financial Aid and Travel Grants

- A mesothelioma diagnosis and treatment often require the patient and their family to incur numerous expenses as part of their treatment. We offer financial aid for integrative medicine, fertility services, childcare, and more.
- Travel to treatment, alone, can cause a significant financial burden on the patient, which might even cause the patient to not seek treatment away from home, even if it’s their best option.

One-on-one Support with our Oncology Nurse

- Finding the right mesothelioma expert can be complicated. Allow us to provide you with the specialist referral that is best for you.
- Our strength as an organization is the ability to advise and help you to navigate all of your clinical trials options without bias or allegiance to any particular doctor or institution. An educated patient is best able to make these decisions when presented with the information in a clear and concise manner without undue pressure or commercial bias.
